AccentHansen appoint Sales Director

Increase in sales demands addition to sales team

09 Jul 2009 – AccentHansen, one of the UK's market-leading steel and glazed door manufacturers and installers, is pleased to announce the appointment of David Hindle into the role of Sales Director. This new position continues AccentHansen's growth against the market trend and is a great addition to the already established and successful sales team.

Having started his career as an apprentice engineer, David has worked in a number of successful sales roles within the door industry and construction marketplace and is relishing the opportunity of working for AccentHansen, "I am looking forward to joining a growing and forward thinking customer lead organisation. With a strong sales team, industry leading technical backup, a large project pipeline and a continual stream of new products coming to market, AccentHansen are in a great position to weather the current recession and is an exciting place to be."

Mark Mallen, Managing Director, AccentHansen, said "David is a great addition to our team. His experience and knowledge of the market will be a huge benefit to us as we continue to grow."
