AccentHansen launch new glass door products

Continued investment leads to expansion of product portfolio

15 September 2009 – AccentHansen, one of the UK's market leading steel and glazed door manufacturers and installers, are proud to introduce AIGlaze™ and ClearGlaze™. Following hot on the heels of GlazeShield FL™, the glass fire door that was launched in January 2009, AIGlaze and ClearGlaze are glass doors specifically developed for architects who require an aesthetically pleasing finish.

AIGlaze combines classic building architecture with modern technology to fulfil all requirements of imaginative architects and designers who value aesthetics. Available in single, double and tilt/slide variations, AIGlaze is a glass door with extremely thin aluminium profiles.

ClearGlaze is the only totally frameless double glazed door on the market. The door is sealed using double nitrile swipes around the perimeter providing a completely flush front facade, achieving a superior aesthetic result

Mark Mallen, Managing Director, AccentHansen, said "Expanding our glass product portfolio is an important step for us. It means we can now offer our clients a complete solution, from aesthetically pleasing glazed entrances through to steel security doors required for the perimeter of their buildings."

He continues, "Our ability to continually invest as we have done throughout 2009 is testament to the strength and financial stability of the company. Not only have we increased our product portfolio with three new products, but we have increased our staffing in response to the increased demand for our products."
